

SYNERGYGR C

Enabling Better Business®

Privacy Statement

Synergygrc safeguards the security and confidentiality of all information which any user of this internet website may share with it through the use of this internet website. All such information is treated as confidential and will not to be disclosed to any third party except where Synergygrc is legally obliged to do so, or such disclosure is made at user request or following user written consent.

Disclaimer

All content on this internet website is published for information purposes only, and neither such information nor any opinions or views expressed thereon constitute legal-, financial-, commercial-, or investment advice. Neither Synergygrc nor any of its directors, officers, employees, agents, or contractors, nor its affiliated- or associated companies, nor the directors, officers, agents, or contractors of such affiliated- or associated companies, accept any responsibility or liability to any person, organization, or other entity for any direct- or consequential loss or damage, however caused, that may be incurred or suffered as a result of any use of this internet website, including reliance on any information or material contained in this internet website.